An out of breath, and just in time, President Janine welcomed everyone. Corporal Barry said grace, reminded us of the 4-way test and raised a glass to South Africa, although the Proteas may not be on top form at the moment.

President Janine read an email and thanked Ken for paying the subs timeously. She continued by announcing that the temporary Liquor License application has been drafted.

Peter T reported that he has been in discussion with the Beaconsfield Bowling Club regarding hosting another "Night at the Races" following the success of the past event. The cost of renting the venue amounts to R900, and R40 per hour for the barman who will man a well stocked bar. Peter T will discuss the possibility of 6 races with Tom McGee. Sergeant Gill went through the duties for the coming week.

Attendance Officer Ken announced various apologies and put the attendance at 14/23 for 60.9%.

President Janine requested that each Rotarian provide a proposal for either a topic or for a guest speaker, by the end of August.

Corporal Downs decided to share the story that got Max Wall banned from the BBC... something to do with catching a robber by the time he reached the shoe mender. He continued by poking fun at the number of law professionals present with some material that can only be classified as "better not share it again for fear of litigation." He mentioned how terrorists threatened to release a lawyer an hour, how biologists are now using lawyers instead of lab mice and how an attractive woman in a bar could be misunderstood and make one think she's a lawyer.

President Janine, obviously scared of what Barry's tailpiece would be, attempted to close the meeting prior to him having uttered a word regarding it. Corporal Barry interjected with a quote from Henry Ford, "showing that there is some depth to Downs":

Coming together is a beginning. Keeping together is progress. Working together is success.

Last meeting's attendance - 61%
