Meeting Report: 12 October 2015

by Bettina Daubermann

Past President Pete Van Zyl chaired the meeting by acting in place of President Andre as well as fulfilled the role of Corporal. The meeting commenced with Grace, the Four-Way Test and a Toast was raised to South Africa and United States of America. Lawrie Shuttleworth's special guests were welcomed from North Carolina, namely his daughter and son-in-law, Trish and Jim Jordan.

Acting President Pete made announcements regarding the upcoming Fundraiser, the Rotary Night Cycle and Trail Run. Feedback was given about the Rotary Health Days held in Galeshewe recently. This was facilitated by Rotary and the Department of Health. The Rotating Dinner was allocated to Bettina and Barry, respectively who each drew names of fellow Rotarians to be invited as guests. Ken Quinn announced the winners of the Rugby World Cup first round bets. The winners included: 1. Clayton Daubermann 2. Kevin Fairweather 3. Peter Thomas and 4. Ken Quinn.

Attendance Officer Ken Quinn announced apologies from Pres. Andre, Brenda Booth, JJ and Luzan Hoffman, Amanda van Zyl and Gill Quinn (leave of absence) resulting in an attendance percentage of 71.4%. Sergeant Barry Downs announced upcoming duties and anniversaries as well as upcoming events, namely the Rotary Night Cycle & Trail Run on the 16th October and the Rotary Leadership Training on the 7th November.

Corporal Pete shared a lighthearted theory about why men are considered happier people than women. Many women might query the theory's validity, but perhaps not its reliability. Further research may be required.

Tailpiece: the secret of change is focusing all your energy not on fighting the old but in building the new. Socrates.

Ahna's report

What a thrilling past couple weeks! The last time we spoke I was raving to you about my holiday in East London with Bettina. Things have been pretty relaxed since then. I was on school break for two weeks, and this past week school began again. During break I attended the Metric Farewell. If you would've asked me if I was going to the dance three weeks ago I would've said "no." But last minute, Tlotlo, the legendary past Exchange student, asked if I would like to join him and his date to the dance. He was the only guy with two dates! The dance was a blast. I was anxious about the whole big entrance thing, with the fancy car, and the carpet walkway, and the screaming fans, but it was over in a blink. Once the adrenaline subsided I was able to relax and enjoy the dance. Everyone looked so beautiful, I wish I could capture a piece of that moment when I looked around the room at everyone's glowing faces and keep it forever. This past weekend was the Kimberley Diamond Cup Tour, the biggest skate competition in the world. My friends in America knew about it before I did! Boy, were they jealous when they found out I got to go. Skateboarding is quite popular in my town, although I'm more of a long boarder myself, I was thrilled to watch the best skateboarders from across the globe compete at one of the best skate parks in the world. The energy was insane! I still can't believe I got the honor of watching Nyjah Huston win the park competition for the U.S! Defiantly a highlight of my year so far. The rest of my week was spent hanging out with friends and family, baking strange recipes found on Facebook, and laying by the pool. I'm off on the Cape Tour this coming weekend! Try not to miss me too much.
