HUMAN TRAFFICKING UNIVERSAL SIGNS

A retired US Air Marshal related that a stewardess friend on an Air Alaska flight had witnessed the rescue of a trafficked woman. The agent wondered if there was a universal signal for Human Trafficking rescues. Since there wasn't, a project was initiated to create a sign language-based signal that could be done covertly by the victim - and leave no traceable aftermath like a note. Within three days the signal and signs were designed and has been translated into 15 languages so far.

Postcards, business cards, and t-shirts have been made. Videos are on social media and training sessions have been conducted in libraries, churches and clubs. Work is being done to get them put in airports throughout the world. The images in 15 languages have been shared worldwide, but that is only the tip of the iceberg - Human Trafficking is massive!

Hospitals, doctors, police, fire departments, and the general public are sharing these signs, learning them, and hoping to save lives one day.

UITSTAPPIE NA DRONFIELD

Baie, baie dankie vir die wonderlike voorreg wat ons kinders gehad het saam met Jaco. Ek dink hulle kyk beslis met ander oë na die natuur. Baie dankie dat u dit alles moontlik gemaak het. Ons waardeer dit so baie!

Vriendelike groete, Freda Meiring (Sentrum Bestuurder)
